

ARCE members who wish to present at the 2019 Annual Meeting in Alexandria, Virginia should submit abstracts to the review committee no later than January 11, 2019.

A double-blind vetting process will be employed; neither reviewers nor submitters will be informed of one another's identities. Abstracts should provide a brief overview of the topic, clearly state the research goals and note the impact of the work in the relevant area of study. (Results should be relayed during the presentation itself - as appropriate - not necessarily in the abstract.) In order to preserve the blind review component, text of abstracts should not include personally identifiable information.

The review committee is comprised of scholars in both ancient and modern Egyptian studies who will review submissions in the following categories:

- Ancient Egypt
 - Archaeology: includes archaeological sciences, bioarchaeology and field reports
 - Language and literature: includes philology and text studies
 - Art and artifacts: includes art, art history, museum collections and objects
 - History
 - Religion
- Ancient Nubia
- Conservation: includes project reports, techniques and training
- Historic and Modern Studies
 - Coptic Studies
 - Medieval to Ottoman Egypt
 - Modern Egyptian Culture and Society
- History of Egyptology
- Technological Advents/Advances

SUBMISSION GUIDELINES

- All submitters must be members of ARCE in good standing. Membership status can be confirmed by contacting ARCE at info@arce.org.
- Abstracts must not exceed 250 words.
- Submitters will be notified via email regarding the acceptance, waitlist or rejection of their abstract by mid-February, 2019.
- All presenters must provide their own funding to attend the Annual Meeting.
- All presenters should register for the Annual Meeting by February 22, 2019. Failure to register by February 22 will result in removal from the program.

- Co-authors and co-presenters must be defined during initial submission in All Academic and may not be added after the abstract due date.
- No individual may submit more than one paper or poster.
- All submissions must be in English.
- All student paper and student poster presentations will be vetted along with all other member submissions. Only after peer review is completed will accepted student presentations be considered for inclusion in the paper and poster contests.

PRESENTATION GUIDELINES

- Submission of an abstract is a commitment by the submitter(s) to present the paper in person at the Annual Meeting.
- Papers may not be presented by anyone other than the named author(s).
- Presentations will run about 20 minutes, with an additional five minutes for questions.

When submitting an abstract, please be aware that the program for presentations for ARCE's 2019 Annual Meeting will begin Friday, April 12 at 8:30 a.m. and will conclude on Sunday, April 14 at 1:00 p.m. If your paper is accepted, you may be scheduled at any point during the program. If your poster is selected, it must remain on display from Friday, April 12, at 8:00 a.m. until Sunday, April 14, at 1:00 p.m. Requests for presenting on a specific day will only be accommodated for religious reasons and should be included in your submission.

As of January 11, 2019, neither abstracts nor titles will be adjustable. However, submitters will retain access to edit contact information via this site.
