A completed Research Fellowship or Research Associate application consists of the following components:

- An online application form
- A research proposal (1500 words) that:
 - Describes your intended research
 - Describes your research methodology(ies)
 - Demonstrates the need to consult sources in Egypt
 - Explains the scholarly significance of your research and your qualifications to undertake the research
 - Assesses the feasibility of completing your research within the proposed timeframe
 - Describes the final publication format (dissertation, book, chapter, etc.) of your research
- Three recommendation letters for all applicants PLUS one language proficiency recommendation letter for pre-doctoral applicants
- Graduate and undergraduate transcripts for pre-doctoral applicants. Please remove all password protections from transcripts prior to submission.

Ministry Security Forms:

- Antiquities applicants:
 - Ministry of Antiquities security form
 - Passport style photograph with white background
 - One-page CV
- All other applicants:
 - Ministry of Higher Education (MoHE) security form (Arabic)
 - Ministry of Higher Education (MoHE) application form (English)
 - 100-200 word Arabic abstract describing the proposed research (uploaded as a PDF document). Keep the language simple and do not use academic jargon.

ARCE Scholar in Residence: In addition to conducting his/her own research, the Scholar-in-Residence agrees to advise junior scholars and may recommend and assist in organizing a workshop, conference, or other scholarly activity in consultation with the ARCE Director. An additional modest per diem is available for the Scholar-in-Residence for these concurrent duties. Interested and qualified candidates may indicate their interest on the ARCE application for the period corresponding to their ARCE fellowship. The Fellowship Selection Committee will make recommendations to the ARCE Director, who makes the final selection and offers the successful applicant the additional award.

- Faculty and senior scholars interested in serving as the ARCE Scholar-in-Residence should indicate your interest on the application. Duties include mentoring Fellows new to the field or to Egypt. The residency is concurrent with the fellowship and offers a modest $250 honorarium per month.

Research Associates: In addition to offering funded fellowships, independent scholars with funding from private sources may apply to ARCE for research associate status using the same application as Fellowship candidates. Research associates receive the same administrative support in terms of clearances, permissions and mentoring as ARCE Fellows, but do not receive funding. Many independent scholars find that establishing this association with ARCE facilitates their ability to conduct research in Egypt. Research associates will be charged a modest fee for services if they are not from ARCE research supporting member universities or museums. Applicants who are awarded alternate status will automatically be invited to conduct their research as ARCE Research Associates.

MoA-affiliated applicants: Fellowships are not intended to support participation on an expedition as an expedition member. It may be possible for you to associate with an expedition to research materials in an expedition storeroom. If this describes your research, please contact Academic Programs Manager Djodi Deutsch, prior to submitting your application fellows@arce.org to determine its acceptability under the ARCE guidelines.

Application Submission Deadline: January 15, 2019. Apply here >>

Important Note: All scholars conducting research with ARCE's administrative or financial support require security clearance from the Egyptian government. If your research relies on interviews, public observation, questionnaires, participant observation, visual anthropology, or attending public events or if your research focuses on the military, religious movements, civilian-military relations, or politics in the current century it is unlikely you will gain clearance. Applicants should consult the Cairo office prior to completing your application if any of those scenarios applies to you.
